THE BUILD

Every Suncamper motorhome is built on a solid foundation. That means a steel-frame underneath and a robust, fully-welded, aluminum frame for the body and single-piece roof. The body panels and roof are fully-insulated with fire retardant foam, while the extensive frame means every fitting is screwed into it, not just insulation. Body thickness exceeds 30 mm while the roof exceeds 45 mm, more than double (and in some cases triple) that of other manufacturers. This strength, proven over decades and countless kilometres, is your guarantee that every Suncamper is built to go the distance...
